

Station Setup Guide

Creating an Effective Engagement Station

Whether you're setting up at a physical location or conducting door-to-door outreach, proper station setup is crucial for success. A well-organized station encourages participation and demonstrates professionalism.

Physical Setup Best Practices:

- Choose high-traffic areas with good visibility
- Position yourself at eye level with passersby (avoid sitting in ways that seem unfriendly)
- Keep materials organized and within easy reach
- Maintain a clear, open posture that invites approach
- Ensure adequate lighting if working in low-light conditions

Materials Organization:

- Petitions on top (most visible item)
- Information sheets organized and easy to distribute
- Pens accessible but not messy
- Completed petitions in a separate folder
- Business cards or contact information readily available

Environmental Considerations:

- Weather: Have protection from sun, rain, or wind
- Foot traffic patterns: Position yourself where people naturally pause
- Safety: Ensure clear sightlines and awareness of surroundings
- Noise level: Be able to communicate clearly without shouting

Remember: Your station setup communicates professionalism before you speak a word.
Invest time in getting it right.
